

I'm an intern at Easton Community Access Television and I am producing a TV show for my local access station. Supporting local access stations like ECAT matters to me and other people because we should be able to access the resources to express my creativity. Others deserve that opportunity as well. I've been learning a lot through my internship. I joined ECAT through Work Opportunities Unlimited which is a job placement service provider for people who seek employment.